INTRODUCTION

We in the voluntary sector are following in the traditions of sages and religious leaders of all faiths. We draw inspiration from various thinkers – from Gautam Buddha to Mahatma Gandhi; from Karl Marx to Jayaprakash Narayan; from Mahatama Phule to Babasaheb Ambedkar. And we are fortunate to have amongst us many who are considered living legends of voluntary work; many who have been recognised nationally and internationally for their dedicated work; many scattered all over the country in remote corners; unheard and unrecognised, who have gained the hearts of the people with whom they worked with. Thousands of people are serving and working to set right the injustices and irregularities in our societies.

Despite this self-less work we are at some kind of crossroads where we are questioned and criticised. We are questioned about what we are doing and whether we really are making positive changes. We are questioned about how we use our financial resources and where we get our finances from. It is to help answer these questions that the "Credibility Alliance" has come together.

PREFACE

The Credibility Alliance is a consortium of voluntary organisations and networks, which has come together to enhance good governance in the voluntary sector and further the sector's credibility in the eyes of the public. It will do this by setting Norms and Good Practices for governance and public disclosure. These Norms have evolved after studying past experiences; through discussions and meetings including two national workshops in February 2002 in Bangalore and July 2002 in Mumbai. In the process, the draft Norms have been circulated to over 15,000 organisations — the response received was positive. It is estimated that approximately 2,000 grass roots organisations, across the country, will be contacted (by August 2003) to share the Norms with them. The Alliance requests your suggestions to promote these Norms of good governance and to institutionalise mechanisms to promote them.

These Norms have already started a process of self-reflection and compliance for many of the organisations associated with the Alliance. It has also provoked several organisations to identify areas for capacity building to work towards complying with the Norms.

This booklet begins with some of the frequently asked questions about the Alliance and the process. It traces the genesis of this initiative and elaborates on the benefits of having an Alliance to promote the credibility of the voluntary sector. It includes the draft Norms that have been prepared by the Alliance. The document also suggests good practices for organisations to follow for annual reports, personnel policies and accounting procedures. The last section contains a questionnaire for your feedback based on which the way ahead will be determined. You are invited to be a member of the Alliance.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

FREQUENTLY ASKED

QUESTIONS

This section answers some of the common questions about the Credibility Alliance, its activities and the way ahead.

In this document we use the term 'Voluntary Sector' - because the word 'voluntary' is a positive value, which relates to three very important characteristics of our sector:

1. Our Boards, the ultimate authority of our organisations, are predominantly served by volunteers - people who give of their skills and time.
2. Many organisations sustain their work with the help of volunteers; and many more could build increased volunteer support.
3. Voluntary donations of skills and finances are an increasing source of support to more and more organizations.

CREDIBILITY ALLIANCE : FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. What is the Credibility Alliance?

It is a loose network of people with a concern to promote good governance and practices which will enhance the credibility of the voluntary sector.

2. How different is the Credibility Alliance from other networks and federations? Is it really necessary to have a new group?

Most existing networks are made up of single category interests such as disability; health; or human rights. No existing network has a special emphasis on this subject; and no existing network is in a position to promote this matter across all types of organisations and categories of voluntary sector activity. So far the strength of the Credibility Alliance has been that it is made up of very different categories of voluntary sector activity.

3. Why are we talking about enhancing the credibility of the voluntary sector?

The voluntary sector in India plays a vital role in society. Due to the substantial increase in numbers in recent years, doubts have been expressed on the credibility of certain organisations, which then can affect the credibility of the whole sector. The corporate sector derives its legitimacy from well-defined corporate law, regulatory bodies, and easily measurable "bottom line" goals. The Government is accountable to people through the democratic process. The voluntary sector is not organised and the regulatory mechanisms in place do not adequately provide us the opportunity to enhance our credibility. A self-regulatory framework, built by us from WITHIN the sector that allows for the establishment of Norms, their promotion and adoption, and ultimately certification that organisations meet these Norms, would strengthen and enhance the credibility of the voluntary sector. It would increase its transparency and accountability. It would also pre-empt the imposition of a framework from outside.

4. What do you mean by enhancement of credibility?

Credibility implies confidence amongst the public and community we serve that an organisation is working towards its objectives. While there are several ways to enhance the credibility of an organisation, this initiative of Credibility Alliance aims to enhance the credibility of the voluntary sector through promoting 'Norms' of good governance and by building capacities of organisations to comply. These Norms (elaborated in this booklet) pertain to an organisation's identity; vision/aims and objectives/achievements; operations; governance; transparency and accountability. Compliance to the Norms is voluntary, because the underlying principle is one of self-regulation.

5. The voluntary sector is very large. Are you really dealing with the whole voluntary sector?

No. Credibility Alliance has focussed on organisations undertaking service and developmental activities for the marginalised sections of society. These organisations known as NGOs/ VOLAGs/ DEVORGs are registered under the Societies Registration Act, Indian Trust Act, the Bombay Public Trust Act or Section 25 of the Companies Act.

6. Who is taking this initiative to enhance credibility?

A group of organisations that had themselves initiated and evolved Norms for self-regulation, met in Delhi in December 2001 to share their experiences. At this meeting it was unanimously decided that the process would be inclusive and no single organisation would take the leadership. Hence, the financial, administrative and secretarial functions of the process would rotate annually. A working group was formed at this meeting to research Norms from other sectors and to prepare a first draft of Norms for the voluntary sector. A core group of organisations is currently anchoring the dissemination process. All organisations are invited to be part of this initiative. The current list of organisations, involved in the process, is found on the back page.

7. Why the name Credibility Alliance?

When the group first met on 17th December 2001, in Delhi, to discuss this issue, the name suggested was "Working Group for Enhancing Credibility of the Voluntary Sector". Credibility was used to ensure that the name, in itself, communicated the objective of the group, that is, to make a positive statement about the sectors credibility. Alliance was the term used to define an unstructured network of interested organisations. The term also aimed to communicate the inclusiveness of the process.

8. Does this process have any guiding principles?

Yes it does. These guiding principles have been evolved by the organisations associated with the Alliance. These are outlined below:

- ☐ This Alliance is not headed by any single individual or organisation - it is an Alliance of organisations concerned with the issue of enhancing the credibility of the voluntary sector in India, hence it has a rotating office and many organisations are involved in the process. In the first phase CIF held the office for general facilitation purposes including finance and administration. Subsequently it was decided that VANI would be housing the office. It is hoped that an organisation from the East or South would hold office subsequently. All the organisations/institutes who were part of the process have been mentioned at the back of this document.

- ❑ The process of setting the Norms for enhancing credibility of the voluntary sector is being initiated and led by the sector itself.
- ❑ The Norms are intended to be such that the range of organisations from small to large and local to international, working in India, are able to comply.
- ❑ Compliance to the Norms is voluntary, because the underlying principle is one of self-regulation. The Norms will not be imposed on any organisation in the Alliance.
- ❑ The promotion and modification of the Norms will continue to evolve in a participatory manner.
- ❑ Accreditation/ evaluation/ rating against these Norms is to be a separate process by agencies other than the Credibility Alliance.
- ❑ The Norms emphasise disclosure, in keeping with the principles of transparency and accountability, rather than for value judgement.
- ❑ By coming together in this way, the voluntary sector will be able to influence policy and decision-making at state, national and international levels and with other fora outside the voluntary sector.

9. Is the process donor driven?

The driving force for this initiative has emerged from within the sector itself, amongst grassroot organisations and networks. While there are donors also involved in the process, and are supporting the process financially, it is not being led by 'donors'. As mentioned earlier, it has a rotating office and many voluntary organisations are involved in the process.

10. Will the Credibility Alliance continue indefinitely?

The future of the Alliance is not yet determined. It could continue as an informal network or as a registered body.

11. How can Norms be changed?

Based on local and regional consultations and consensus arrived at the all-India co-ordination level, changes will be made.

12. How and when will the decision be taken?

The consultative process, involving the dissemination of these Norms in regional languages as well as consultative meetings in different parts of the country, will take place in March-July 2003. It is planned that 2000 organisations will be approached/consulted during the process. In August 2003, a national meeting will be held in Kolkata to decide if the process should continue. If it is decided to continue the process, the plan of action and structure will be determined based on the feedback received from you and others involved.

13. If a decision is taken to have a formal registered body, what will it do?

The role of this body will be determined based on the feedback received. Should the decision be taken to register it formally, some of the functions of this body, that have emerged from the consultative process so far, are:

- ☐ Consensus and membership building
- ☐ Development and continual improvement of Norms
- ☐ Accreditation of rating / certification agencies and capacity building organisations
- ☐ Information and communication support for enhancement of credibility
- ☐ Policy advocacy for enhancement of credibility
- ☐ Grievance redressal

14. If the decision is taken to have a formal registered body, how will it be structured?

As stated in the earlier question, the structure has not yet been determined and will depend on the feedback received thorough the consultative process.

From the deliberations so far, it is visualised that the body could be a membership body with a vast membership base. Membership to this body would be:

- ☐ Organisations who are accredited as conforming to the Norms
- ☐ Organisations who commit to conform to the Norms within one financial year (associate members).

It has been suggested that membership fee to the Alliance vary with the size of the organisation.

15. How will my credibility be assessed by this body?

Credibility compliance would be assessed against the Norms which have evolved through the consultative process by a 'competent authority'.

16. Who would be this 'competent authority'?

No organisation has yet been identified or certified. But it is likely that they will emerge. The competent authorities could be called an accrediting agency. These organisations will themselves have complied with all the Norms and suggested good practices.

17. How much will this assessment cost?

We do not know yet. However there will be charges. They will be variable depending on travel costs and the size of the organisation. The amount to be charged will take into account feedback received from voluntary organisations and potential accreditation agencies.

18. How do I know that Credibility Alliance is credible?

Currently the Working Group is open to all interested organisations. However, if the process continues, then only organisations, that have confirmed their commitment to comply with the Norms by August 2003, will form part of the Working Group.

19. What are the benefits of joining the process?

The benefits of joining the process include:

- ☐ Sense of belonging Participation will include attaining an identity as being part of a larger collective / network / alliance; sharing experiences to build up the credibility of the sector as a whole and becoming part of a broader social network and support system.

- ☐ Membership Membership will include recognition as being committed to a set of Norms; conferring a status that it is efficient, effective and reliable.
- ☐ Capacity building support Membership will enable the organisation to have access to capacity building support, according to your needs.
- ☐ Likelihood of financial and other forms of support Improved and recognised standards of governance and public disclosure are likely to generate increased financial support for your organisation. Donors (both institutional and individual) are more likely to consider applications and appeals from organisations which comply with the Norms.
- ☐ Access to information A member will have access to information on opportunities available to members including use of electronic information systems between members.
- ☐ Access to policy and decision making platforms A member will have the opportunity to contribute to policy formulation on issues that affect its work. The organisation will also have opportunities to influence policies and procedures of grant-making agencies.

PROCESS

PROCESS

This section traces the genesis of the Credibility Alliance, the process of drafting the Norms and the activities undertaken so far to build consensus on the Norms. It also includes the plan to reach out to a regionally and sectorally diverse set of organisations across the voluntary sector throughout India.

The objective is to reach out to a regionally and sectorally diverse set of organisations across the voluntary sector. It is estimated that 2,000 organisations will be contacted during this period. The action plan will be translated into reality by four zonal teams, who will work across states in each region. The main strategy will include :
  - ◆ To organise 4 zonal workshops in the country
  - ◆ To organise a wide range of local workshops as determined by a zonal team for the grassroots organisations in each zone.
  - ◆ To translate material into regional languages and disseminate to networks

Based on the feedback received from this process, the Alliance will determine the way ahead.

VALUES

Values inspire and guide the Voluntary Sector and each organisation. These include :

- ☐ Self-governing - voluntary organisations are independent of the government.
- ☐ Integrity - in all that we do and say.
- ☐ Non-profit - working selflessly not to generate profit for ourselves - though profits can be made in some of our activities to support services.
- ☐ Volunteers - using and respecting volunteers.

It is these values and more, which are to be preserved by complying with the Norms.

Selection:-

- ☐ Shortlist the suitable applications based on requirements.
- ☐ Call candidates for interviews, preferably on specific dates and times.
- ☐ Try to interview at least three candidates for each position.
- ☐ Constitute an interview board of at least two members and their assessment should be recorded in writing.
- ☐ As a good practice, make reference checks from the past employer for the selected candidate.
- ☐ Verify copies of certificates confirming a candidates education and other experience against originals and keep a record.

Appointment/ Contract Letter:

- ☐ Ensure that all the permanent, temporary and contractual employees have an appointment letter stating designation/ position, joining date, termination date (in case of contract), salary details, benefits and notice period (in case of employees).

Preferably, job responsibilities should also be mentioned.

- ☐ As part of joining formalities, each employee must submit the following documents: -
  - ◆ Copies of qualification certificates (obtained in the selection process)

- ◆ Photographs
- ◆ Reference letter (if any)

Compensation and Benefits

This is to provide equitable benefits to all employees based on their contribution to the organisation and to ensure that all relevant compensation laws are complied with, e.g. Provident Fund, Minimum Wages, Gratuity etc. The following are also to be considered:

Salary:

- ☐ All employees to receive 'minimum wages' as defined in law, especially when projects are supported by government and other donor agencies, either national or international.

Leave:

- ☐ Leave policy and compensation policy should be available in writing and accessible to all employees.
- ☐ Ensure minimum 15 working days leave for 1 complete year of service, could be a maximum of 45 days.

- ☐ Holidays other than on the declared list should be based on State Laws (National, Festival Holidays Act).
- ☐ The holiday list should be prepared in consultation with the staff and displayed at the beginning of the year.

Compensatory Leave:

- ☐ Compensatory leave policy to be in writing. (By and large this should be discouraged.)

Travel Policy:

- ☐ Travel practices (food, mode, accomodation) should be as equitable as possible for all staff.
- ☐ Invitation to national and international events should be considered an organisational invitation and the person most like to contribute and benefit should be sent to the event.

- ◆ Basic including D.A.
  - ◆ Medical
  - ◆ Provident Fund
  - ◆ E.S.I.S.
- ☐ As part of good practice, personal accident insurance policy should be taken to cover all employees - e.g. Janata Policy that costs Rs. 15/- to Rs. 20/- per year per person.

Performance Management

To ensure professional development of staff members, an organisation should have self management systems in place. This would also enhance employee capacity to meet the organisation's objectives and to ensure feedback to employees on their contribution to the organisation. Towards this, the organisation should :

- ☐ Ensure appraisal of all the employees conducted annually and this should be documented.
- ☐ Ensure that mutually agreed objectives/ targets are set at the beginning of the year based on which the appraisal will be done.
- ☐ Ensure that a user-friendly appraisal format is in place.
- ☐ Encourage a 360 degree appraisal system whereby there is a two-way feedback system for the employees as well as employer.

- ☐ Conduct performance appraisals jointly with the individual concerned, with feedback being two-way. The conclusion of these discussions should be recorded on the form and should be signed by the Supervisor and the Supervisee.
- ☐ Determine individual capacity building needs based on the appraisal and feedback and implement.
- ☐ Consider appraisals at the time of deciding increments. Whenever given i.e. increments should partly be linked to performance.

Other Policies

Participative Management

To build ownership for the organisation and its objectives, the organisation should :

- ☐ Share regular information through structured and unstructured methods like meetings, notices, bulletins etc.
- ☐ Inform employees whom they can take their concerns to, and in what time period they can expect the response.

Exit

To ensure an employee leaves with dignity and to get insights into the organisation from separating employees, the organisation should :

- ☐ Have a written termination policy.

- ❑ An organisation may terminate the services for various reasons. Whatever the reason the concerned individual should be given 'show-cause' notice in writing and an opportunity to explain or defend their viewpoint.
- ❑ The employee desiring to resign, should submit a resignation letter.
- ❑ The organisation should ensure that an employee wishing to resign gets adequate opportunity to express his/ her feelings about the organisation.
- ❑ The organisation must issue an 'acceptance of resignation' in a timely manner, stating the relieving date after considering the notice period.
- ❑ The organisation should ensure that there is timely clearance of dues.
- ❑ An 'experience certificate' should be given to the employee.
- ❑ The feedback received through exit interview, should be fed into the planning process.

Grievance redressal

- ❑ Every organisation should articulate a written grievance procedure.
- ❑ Every organisation should articulate a written "sexual harassment" grievance procedure.

ACCOUNTING PROCEDURES<sup>1</sup>

The following accounting and reporting procedures are recommended in addition to the statutory compliances that are required by registered organisations.

Basis of Financial Statements

- ☐ An accrual basis of accounting to be followed.

Income Recognition Corpus/ Capital Grants and Donations

- ☐ Grants to corpus for general expenses to be recognised as direct increases in assets and liability.
- ☐ Endowments for specific purposes to be recognised as direct increases in assets and liability.
- ☐ Income from corpus and endowment to be recognised as revenue and assets.
- ☐ Donated assets to be treated as deferred income liability and recognised as income over the depreciated period of asset.

Income Recognition - Unrestricted Grants and Donations

- ☐ Recognise as revenue and transfer to "General Fund"/ "Reserves" within Trust Funds/ Shareholder's or Society's Funds.

<sup>1</sup> These guidelines are included as 'recommended'. There are plans to develop these in conjunction with the Indian Institute of Chartered Accountants. They are likely to evolve into two levels of accounting practice; one for small organisations (by far the majority); and one for larger organisations.

Income Recognition - Restricted Grants and Donations

- ☐ Recognise as revenue over appropriate period. Grants received in advance for future periods to be treated as liabilities.
- ☐ Unutilised amounts at the end of the period to be transferred from Income and Expenditure to "Unutilised Grants" under Liabilities and not to be shown as excess of Income over Expenditure.

Income Recognition - Conditional Grants and Donations

- ☐ Mere stipulation of purpose does not amount to condition. "Returnability" required to recognise condition.
- ☐ Recognise as liability on receipt, and as income only when "reasonably certain" that the conditions will be met.
- ☐ Unutilised/ liability amount to reflect under "Unutilised Grants".

Income Recognition Grants and Donations received by intermediary organisations

An intermediary organisation is said to have variance power, if it has conveyed when and to which organisation it may disburse funds that it has received. If the intermediary acts as a mere passthrough and the donor has specified the organisation to which the intermediary should remit funds, then the intermediary does not have variance power.

- ☐ Where there is no variance power, treat as asset and liability, under "Earmarked Funds".
- ☐ Where there is variance power, treat as income and expense.

Income Recognition - Promise to Give

- ☐ Recognise as applicable only when a legally enforceable right exists, as in a signed MoU.

Income Recognition - Gifts in kind

- ☐ Recognise, based on "fair market value", as deferred liability (def.) and reflect in inventory.
- ☐ On utilisation recognise as income and expense.
- ☐ In case of services, recognise only if it would have been otherwise paid for. Recognise when service is provided.

Income Recognition - Matching Grants or Challenge Grants

- ☐ Treat as conditional grants with the matching clause as condition.

REPORTING

Consolidation at Legal Entity Level

- ☐ The Balance Sheet, Income and Expenditure Statement and Receipt and Payment statement should be presented in a consolidated form at the level of the Legal Entity and inclusive of FC and non-FC figures.

Receipt and Payment

- ☐ Every organisation must present, along with the Balance Sheet and Income and Expenditure, Receipt and Payment Statement with their financials.

Reporting format

- ☐ Section 25 Companies to report as per Schedule VI of the Companies Act. Trusts and Societies in Gujarat and Maharashtra to report as per Schedules VIII and IX of the Mumbai Public Trust Act. Where no specified reporting format governs the reporting format of an organisation, the enclosed format is to be used. Even in case of Section 25 companies and trusts in Gujarat and Maharashtra, adopting as many of the enclosed formats as possible is encouraged.

Where grants are reported

- ☐ Income and Expenditure, and in Balance Sheet under Unutilised Grants, segregated into restricted and conditional, and Deferred Liability/ Capital Grant. Schedules to list sources of grants.

Corpus

- ☐ Corpus figures in the balance sheet must show the opening balance in the Corpus Fund at the beginning of and additions during the year, withdrawals from corpus funds during the year and the closing balance in the fund.

Natural and Functional Heads

- ☐ Natural heads reflect expenses under regular business heads, such as salaries, travel, office expenses interest etc. Functional heads on the other hand, reflect expenses classified functionally as programme, administration and fundraising expenses. It is recommended that expenses are placed under functional heads.

Comparatives

- ☐ Previous period comparisons to be provided.

Disclosure

- ☐ Remuneration to Directors, travel and other reimbursements to Directors should be disclosed separately.- Likewise in case of trustees/ shareholders/members.

Related Party Transactions

- ☐ Provisions of AS18 of the Indian Accounting Standards must be applied.
- ☐ Disclose gifts/ services support separately.
